

What does communication mean to YOU?

Participate in focus groups with researchers to help them understand the use and challenges of digital communication technologies.

Defining communication in a digital era: What best protects diverse consumers

Principal Researchers: Dr. Ian Warren, Dr. Luke Heemsbergen and Dr. Monique Mann

Associate Researchers: Mr. Angus Murray and Ms. Jessica Carrick

We are inviting you to participate in a focus group about digital communication.

We are seeking participants from various backgrounds, including those who are D/deaf, hard of hearing, or who are blind or have a visual impairment. We are also looking for people from rural, regional & remote areas, from culturally diverse backgrounds, and participants from all states and territories.

We want to explore your experiences and use of digital technologies and what communication means to you.

Participation in this study is entirely voluntary, and there is no obligation to participate.

Locations

In person focus groups will be held at Melbourne, Geelong, and Warrnambool

Online focus groups will be held via a password protected zoom room

Dates

Focus groups will be running in June and July

Are you eligible?

- 18 years or older
- Live in Australia

Participant benefits

Participants will receive a $50 gift card for their completed participation.

Auslan interpreters and closed captioning will be available.

If you're unsure if you meet the requirements or have further questions, scan the QR code below or email the research team:

definingcomm@deakin.com.au

